

People

Textile designer and artist Margo Selby talks to Elspeth Pridham about the world of weaving

Places

Ahead of the 10th edition of Clerkenwell Design Week, we look at the key launches to hit East London

Products

Specifying a home cinema involves more than simply installing a projector, says Sean Hannam

Projects

We look at projects in the Bathroom Design over £25,000 category at the Kbbreview Retail & Design Awards

Professional

Kay Hill looks at why vintage furniture is so popular and how best to specify pieces in your clients' homes

Issue 25
05.2019

Studio.

studio-news.com

for residential design professionals

Projects

Residence

Designer: Stephen Dick

The client, a young professional in South Kensington, had recently purchased this apartment and requested a smart, luxurious bathroom with lots of storage and display space. He liked the colour blue.

As a separate walk-in shower and whirlpool bath were a priority, Dick faced a challenging room size and drainage constraints. He arranged a custom-made basin unit in Corian and steel opposite the door and placed the shower in front of the bath with a minimal glass screen.

For storage, a custom mirror-fronted cabinet with vanity lighting as well as demisters and shaver sockets inside was fitted over the basin. Fitted oak shelving to the right of the basin introduces a softer material and keeps towels, toiletries and accessories in easy reach.

Brick tiles in Carrara marble and Murano glass were used throughout. The classic marble as a nod to the period property while the blue glass providing a hit of the client's favourite colour. ▶

Image credit: Adrian Lyon

